

Journal of Medical Sciences (JMS)

Call for articles

Articles are invited for publication in JMS (Journal of Medical Sciences). JMS, the official journal of Sher-i-Kashmir Institute of Medical Sciences (SKIMS) Srinagar is a peer-reviewed multidisciplinary medical journal. Currently the Journal is published biannually; the online issue which has been started recently will be henceforth published more frequently. JMS publishes articles in all branches of clinical medicine and surgery and allied specialties with particular emphasis on research articles of regional interest.

JMS is intended for medical practitioners working in all clinical setting including primary and secondary care. Articles are mainly aimed at non-specialist hospital doctors, family physicians and candidates for postgraduate teaching.

JMS invites following types of articles for publication.

1. Editorials & Commentaries
2. Original research paper
3. Review articles
4. Short Articles
5. Case Series
6. Case Reports
7. Clinical images
8. News & Views
9. Letters
10. Education & Teaching related articles

Advantages of publishing in JMS

1. Online Submission: Fast and easy online submission
2. Fast Peer Review: give important feedback on getting the paper better.
3. International Editorial Board
4. Free support for statistical analysis of the submitted paper.
4. JMS is being indexed on major electronic biomedical databases soon.
5. Free online access to all JMS articles

Please visit our website for Guidance to authors about the required format of the various types of the articles.

<http://www.jmsskims.org/instruction-for-authors/>

Thanks

Editors, Journal of Medical Sciences

<http://www.jmsskims.org/editor/>